561,226.11

Washington, D. C.—The close of the fiscal year 1925 on Tuesday found a surplus of $250,505,238.38 in the treasury after expenditure of $3,529,643.44 of the ordinary receipts, which totaled $3,780,148,684.42. The surplus nearly four times the amount forecast last October, is not available for tax reduction purposes this year, having been used to lower the public debt. Secretary Mellon's statement of the treasury's condition said that only the annual surplus to be expected in the future years should be used as the margin available for tax reduction.

Treasury officials offered no explanation for the increase of the surplus over earlier estimates but others believe "improved business conditions together with the lowering of surtaxes last year were largely responsible. Use of the surplus and funds from other prescribed sources reduced the public debt $748,612,101.59 to a total of $20,518,193,837.90. The amount of the reduction also gratified treasury officials, who had held earlier estimates below the $700,000,000 figure.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS TOTAL
Customs receipts swelled the revenue total by $547,561,226.11 or within one half of one per cent of the figure estimated a year ago. Miscellaneous taxes produced $228,638,079.90, approximating the treasury's forecast, and income taxes returned $1,706,637.23, or about 6 per cent more than estimated last July. Total expenditures for the year represented a net decrease of $4,440,861.31 from the forecast of a year ago.

Plan of the treasury for a more effective enforcement of the prohibition law were described in Mr. Mellon's statement rapidly nearing completion. He reviewed efforts to keep smuggled liquor out of the country by means of treaties with various foreign countries and use of the coast guard to blockade rum row, and these measures, together with the recently ordered reorganization of enforcement on land he believes equip the treasury to make the Volstead act more effective.

By Associated Press
Mandate.—Professor Walter Scott Hendrickson, 65, of Grinnell college, Grinnell, Ia., was found dead in his cottage at Portage Point near here, Wednesday.

Mrs. Hendrickson had tried to authorities her asking them to locate her husband. She said she had not heard from him for several weeks. Coroner Bradford said he believed Professor Hendrickson had been dead ten days.

Professor Hendrickson was widely known in the field of chemistry and as a lecturer.

In the room where the body was found were his suitcase, packed, and a railroad ticket. Circumstances pointed to a natural death caused by an internal hemorrhage.

BURY VICTIMS OF GUN IN HIGHWAY QUARREL

Superior.—Funeral services for August Frieske, 60, and John Hyra, 18, victims of the rifle of Charles McDorman Tuesday, will be conducted Thursday at their homes in Wascott township, Douglas co.

United States Marshal still benumbed over the swift tragedy that visited it. The two who were shot, and their slayer lived within a few miles of each other. They had lived many years in the township and were known to everyone in the little community.

They are wondering in the township what strange twists of human mind will take in a clash over a trifle, a six-foot strip of barren land, which McDorman insisted was being taken from him wrongfully for road purposes.

Scores of persons from the country-ides are expected to attend the funerals.

GRAND JURY TRIAL BARES HUGE BRIBE IN LIQUOR SCANDAL

Philadelphia, Pa.—A special federal grand jury has heard evidence of huge bribes accepted by city policemen who not only protected a ring of alcohol permit holders, but aided in loading trucks and acted as a convoy to the liquor laden vehicles.

Assistant District Attorney Friedman said the grand jury had revealed the biggest police scandal in the history of the city.

Friedman said the investigation would lead to the indictment of more than a score of police and other corporations and forty individuals on charges of conspiracy, illegal transportation and bribery of policemen.

DELEGATES TELL VIEWS ON PEACE IN HAWAII TALKS

Japan Is Causing Uneasiness, Australian Representative Says

Honolulu.—General feeling in Australia is one of uneasiness regarding Japan. S. H. Roberts of Victoria, Australia, told the members of the Institution of Pacific Relations which opened here Wednesday. The meetings were held in secret due to the belief that free and frank discussion may be had than if they were public.

T. Z. Koo, China, said the readjustment of the affairs of China was vital to the peace of the Pacific.

Hugh Cynn, Korea, said Korea lacked the means to start industry and establish commercial relations, which forced the Koreans to emigrate to Manchuria and Szechuan.

Conrado Bonito, Philippines, discussed the independence agitation.

Dr. M. Sawatani, Japan, said Japan depended on continental Asia for most of her economic and commercial relations. Japan faces the problem of over-population, which could be remedied either by emigration, industrialization, or more intensive cultivation of the land, he said.

BOARD OF CONTROL WILL NAME TAYCHEEDAH HEAD

By Associated Press
Madison.—The state board of control will select a successor to Ebbas A. Dederer, superintendent of the Taycheedah Industrial home for women before September 1. John L. Hannan, president of the board, said Thursday that a large number of applications for the position have been received, but have not been acted upon.

Dr. Dederer's resignation was made effective Sept. 1, after a conference between her and the board, Mr. Hannan explained. The superintendent submitted her resignation last February and it was accepted by the board. She was prevailed upon to remain in charge, however, until after the legislative visiting committee's investigation. The committee recommended that she remain, but Mr. Hannan said Thursday that the resignation was not affected by the committee's recommendation.

Badger G. O. P. Gears Up For Senatorial Contest

By Associated Press
Oshkosh.—If Governor J. J. Blaine calls a special election, regular Republicans in all parts of the state will meet within two days in county conventions and will name delegates to a state convention to be held within four days thereafter, at which time a candidate will be nominated for United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Robert M. LaFollette.

If Governor Blaine does not call a special election but summons the state legislature into special session to provide for filling the vacancy by appointment, a state meeting of officers of the county organizations of Republicans will be held in this city July 15, for completing party organization and arranging for future activities. Such activities probably will include preliminary plans for a state convention to be held in 1926 for the nomination for all state offices and for United States Senator.

Overnight Service Makes
Two Metropoles Like
One City

By Associated Press
New York.—New York and Chicago Tuesday were as one city to use the words of Vice President Dawes, as the result of the inauguration of the first overnight airmail service between the two cities.

Mail was posted in Chicago late Wednesday afternoon and delivered to New York businessmen arriving at their offices Thursday morning, while a similar rapid service was designed for Chicagoans with New York correspondents.

Two planes hopped off from both the east and west terminals of the searchlighted trail Wednesday night with ceremonies participated in by Vice President Dawes and Postmaster General New.

One plane load of mail came from Chicago to New York two hours ahead of schedule, in six hours, while the second plane arrived in eight hours.

The pilots of both machines said the signal lamps along the way were working in perfect condition along the entire flight way. Their flights were unmarked by engine or other trouble.

FACE BREAK IN BAPTIST RANKS

Formation of New Foreign Mission Society Is Threatened

Seattle, Wash.—Threats of a definite break and the formation of a little Foreign Mission society were issued by fundamentalists Thursday after a conference of the Hinman resolution recalling modernist missionaries is not passed by the Northern Baptist convention Friday.

Announcement of the fundamentalist ultimatum was made by Dr. W. B. Riley of Minneapolis.

Delegates were asked to lay aside snobbery and race prejudice by the Rev. A. R. Pettit, Judson Memorial church, New York. "There is no reason why any church should rent its pews to rich men of a certain race so that poor men of another race cannot worship there," he said.

A vote was to be taken Thursday on a resolution introduced by Dr. W. B. Hinson of Portland, Ore., by which all missionaries in the field whose beliefs do not accord with the historic Baptist canons would be recalled from the foreign fields.

DAUGHTER OF BRANDEIS WILL WED MADISON MAN

By Associated Press
Chicago.—A marriage license was taken out here Thursday by Paul Rauschenbusch and Elizabeth Brandeis, the latter a daughter of Justice Brandeis of the United States Supreme court. They gave their address as Madison. Mr. Rauschenbusch is a son of the late Walter Rauschenbusch, who was professor at Rochester Theological seminary, Rochester, and a writer on Christianity and the social order.

Paul Rauschenbusch is instructor in Economics at the University of Wisconsin where he made the acquaintance of Miss Brandeis who has been pursuing advanced study there. Miss Brandeis is a graduate of Radcliffe college and a native of Boston.

MICHIGAN GETS HEAD OF MAINE UNIVERSITY

By Associated Press
Orono, Me.—The resignation of Doctor Clarence C. Little as president of the University of Maine was announced Thursday. He will accept presidency of the University of Michigan.

The resignation was presented by the executive committee of the state Republican organization to which Republican members of the legislature also were invited, held in this city Wednesday.

The gathering was attended by representatives from every part and corner of the state. It was dominated by a group or faction and was characterized throughout by the idea that it was a movement intended to permit all of the Republicans to have a voice in the selection of its political leaders and its candidates for various offices.

A resolution presented by Senator H. E. Daggett was adopted and provided that "we heartily endorse the resignation of Dr. Little and we will give it our hearty support."

The organization will hold a state convention early in 1926 to nominate a complete state ticket and endeavor to redeem the state from present regime.

Election Of Governor's Widow Pleases Coolidge

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1925 by The Post-Pub. Co.
Swampscott, Mass.—President Coolidge was very much pleased by the outcome of the special election in which Mrs. John Jacob Rogers was elected to succeed her late husband as representative in congress from the Fifth Massachusetts district.

No Democratic claim can be made that the president's strength in his home state is waning or that there is a restlessness in the body politic which bodes ill for the Republican hold on congress.

It was straight-out Republican victory even though the vote cast was relatively small. Proportionately, however, Mrs. Rogers won by a larger vote than her husband ever did.

To a large extent the vote was sentimental. It usually has turned out that way irrespective of party in the few cases in which a widow has succeeded her husband to public office. But Mrs. Rogers made a good campaign. She didn't forget, for instance, to be photographed with the president on his arrival in Salem last week and she has handled the issues of the campaign—the tariff was paramount—with the skill of an experienced politician.

The president had been told in advance by Senator Butler that the election of Mrs. Rogers was assured, so he didn't feel the slightest concern. The Republican papers warned their Democratic adversaries at the outset that the election would hardly be a fair test as a small vote was expected, it being thought naturally that a reduced majority for the Republican victor would be hailed as a Democratic gain.

The district itself is normally Republican so political inferences are hard to draw from the result.

TURN TO WISCONSIN
There is joy nevertheless in the Coolidge camp that the election is over and from now on Senator Butler and his lieutenants in the Republican national committee will give their attention to the situation in Wisconsin and North Dakota respectively in the hope that regular Republican candidates may be chosen at the primaries who will have the best chance of winning against the political heirs of the LaFollette-Ladd strength in the northwest.

It is no secret that the Republican national committee will exert itself to the utmost in the forthcoming elections in those two states. Plenty of funds will be available for an active campaign. It will not be good strategy for the Republican chiefs to consider of Wisconsin and North Dakota to appear to be taking a part in the campaign but just the same they will be behind the local Republican leaders in each case as effectively as if they were managing the campaign.

For Senator Butler, the Republican chairman, isn't waiting until 1926 but already has begun to maneuver things in an effort to assure the president of a Republican majority in congress.

It will be the test of the administration's strength and determine very largely whether Mr. Coolidge will be nominated in 1928 for a third term.

FORD'S BID ON SHIPS MISSING

Auto Magnate Says He Forwarded Offer by Mail Several Days Ago

Washington, D. C.—Fleet corporation officials said Thursday the bid of Henry Ford for the 200 shipping board vessels set aside for scrapping had not been received by them and when it arrives it cannot be considered unless new bids are invited.

If the board should reject all the offers, new bids would be asked in which case Ford, as well as others, could submit propositions.

12 MILITARY SCHOOLS ON NEW HONOR ROLLS

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Correcting errors in a previous announcement the war department Thursday made public a list of twelve military schools in the United States which had earned the designation of honor schools. The previous war department statement gave a list of 23 schools, but it was discovered that the list contained all of the schools inspected during the year, not merely those awarded honors.

The twelve honor schools are:
Augustus military academy, Fort Defiance, Virginia; Culver military academy, Indiana; Georgia military academy, Indiana; Georgia military academy, Booneville Mo.; New Mexico military institute, Roswell; New York military academy, Cornwall-on-Hudson; Riverside military academy, Gainesville, Ga.; St. Johns school, Manlius, New York; Stanton military academy, Virginia; Wadsworth military academy, Lexington, Mo.; Shattuck school, Fairbault, Minn.

Mr. Haas, 35 years old, is a businessman with wide experience in purchasing. The announcement said he was quartermaster in charge of regimental supply of the 34th Infantry and handled its supplies overseas.

COOLIDGE HAS HARD TIME TO SECURE REST

Invitation of Klan and Anthrax Strike Spoil Vacation

By Associated Press
Swampscott, Mass.—President Coolidge is reaching the conclusion that a president, regardless of where he goes, cannot evade the cares of his office.

Coming to the seashore for relief from the enervating heat of Washington, the president is finding that although removed from the seat of government, there are problems to plague a vacationist. Already the president's rest here has been interrupted by a near domestic tragedy, the illness of his father who now is reported recovering.

Back in the role of a vacationist, Mr. Coolidge was confronted Thursday with several issues, holding vexatious possibilities.

The Ku Klux Klan controversy threatens to take a new turn as a result of the announced intentions of the organization to invite the president to review its parade and address its members in Washington early in August. No formal invitation has yet been received but it is considered unlikely here that the president will be able to accept particularly as he has indicated he still will be summing here at the time.

Another cloud on the horizon is the possibility of a clash between anthrax, city operators and miners over a new wage scale. The president is watching developments with interest, chiefly through the newspapers, but nothing has been said or done here indicating what he will do if a crisis arises.

FRANCE PREPARING DEBT ANNOUNCEMENT

By Associated Press
Paris.—The French government is preparing to make an announcement upon the American debt question within a few days. It will probably be limited to scarcely more than naming the mission to go to Washington.

French debt negotiations with the United States will be kept strictly a part from those with Great Britain.

There is much caution here because of the apparent conviction both in the American State Department and in the French Foreign Office that any public mention of the terms of payment by either side would complicate negotiations and might even defeat their purpose.

MINÉ SCALE COMMITTEE ASKS 2-YEAR CONTRACT

By Associated Press
Scranton, Pa.—The anthracite scale committee submitted to the tri-district convention for its ratification the following tentative demands for renewal with mine owners of the contract expiring August 31.

A contract for two years complete recognition of the union which means addition of the checkoff; 10 per cent wage increase for tonnage men and $1 a day additional for day workers; equalization of day rates. Payments on the basis of 2,240 pounds ton where now paid on car basis.

Quicker adjustment of grievances; improvement of housing conditions of company property; equalization of colliery work during shutdowns and other matters of technical character.

CHIROPRACTOR MUST FACE TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

First degree murder charges must be faced by Victor H. Baker, Berlin chiropractor whose bride of seven months was killed at a campsite near Fremont Saturday night by the discharge of a shotgun. A warrant to that effect was issued at Oshkosh Thursday as the outgrowth of a coroner's inquest Wednesday afternoon.

Baker is held in the Winnebago county jail at Oshkosh without bail, and will be given a preliminary hearing at 10 o'clock on the morning of July 15.

Thirteen witnesses were subpoenaed early Wednesday afternoon. The coroner's jury was in session until night and in its verdict declared that the woman came to her death from gunshot wounds inflicted by her husband.

Baker testified when brought before the coroner's jury that the shooting was accidental and that his wife was not insured, but evidence was brought to show that Mrs. Baker was insured and that double indemnity would be paid on certain policies in the event of accidental death.

Baker is a graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic, Davenport, Iowa. His family lives at Tioga, N. D.

A short time ago Baker sold out his practice at Berlin and purchased a camping outfit in preparation for a proposed trip west by automobile.

IDENTIFY SLAIN MAN AS HEIR TO $12,000 ESTATE

Hearing of Alleged Slayer Is Set for Friday at Wash-

Washburn.—The hearing for Charles Deenick charged with the murder of Guy P. Hurley, positively identified by Vincent Rogers and Fred Rogers, both of Cable, as a resident of Centuria, Miss., is scheduled for Friday here.

The Rogers assert that the dead man is a brother-in-law of Vincent Rogers and an ex-soldier, discharged from the service in 1919. The identity was confirmed by a long distance telephone conversation with Dr. Carberry of Centuria, where Hurley formerly lived, and where he was injured in an automobile accident five years ago. Doctor Carberry said he was the physician who operated upon Hurley after the accident and stitched up the long gash on the skull.

Final identification following so many confusing and conflicting leads came about through the fact that Mrs. Vincent Rogers, Cable, living four miles east of where the murder occurred, saw a newspaper picture of the dead man. Her husband left immediately for Washburn and was positive about the identity which Fred Rogers also confirmed.

Hurley had been a wanderer since the war according to information received by Coroner Hansen from Centuria. Three years ago his father died leaving a $12,000 estate, but Hurley never touched it, preferring to wander about the country.

WAR SCARE SETTLED

There was nothing in the deposition of a particular moment that affected the situation. If there was any war scare, as Mr. Doheny said, it then it was all settled when the first Doheny contract was actually signed.

Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior, branded Mr. Doheny's story, the Times says, as a bid for public support, made up in a bid for truth and in part, of statements incomplete in details designed to minimize the part Albert B. Fall played in the leases.

Mr. Finney admitted that three telegrams from Three Rivers, N. M., where Mr. Fall was spending a vacation, to the interior department in Washington, had disappeared from the files but he denied that the department records had been ransacked by the senate oil investigators.

"Just a reshuffle of the alibi," Mr. Roberts said as quoted by the New York Tribune.

FLEEING CONVICTS ARE SURROUNDED BY DEPUTYS

Iron Mountain, Mich.—All roads leading into Dickinson co were blocked Thursday, following the daring break of four escaped prisoners from their hiding places in the woods near Humbolt early Thursday morning where they have been secreted since Sunday afternoon, after their successful escape from the state prison at Marquette.

Using guns to force their way, the desperadoes held up an automobile near Humbolt and with revolvers pressed against the driver's side ordered him to start toward Iron Mountain. Instead the driver, risking his own life, drove into the ditch and wrecked the machine.

Blocking the highway the men held up another passing car, this time forcing the occupants to desert their machine and they left in the direction of Sagola.

Dickinson co officers, upon receipt of the news of the second dash for freedom, threw a cordon of deputy sheriffs over the network of highways that lead into the county.

By Associated Press
New York.—In answer to statements of Edward L. Doheny that representatives of danger of war in the Pacific prompted his part in the naval oil leases, the New York Times Thursday publishes comments of government counsel in the oil lease prosecutions and of other officials connection with the cases.

Mr. Doheny declared that the war danger was kept secret because officials were afraid of wrecking the Washington arms conference. Both Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts said the main treaties resulting from the conference were signed and ratified by the senate before the first contract with Mr. Doheny was signed.

As for naval officers' fears of an oriental invasion of this country being deleted from Rear Admiral Joan K. Robinson's deposition at the Clarence oil lease trial, Mr. Pomerene said: "Whatever was deleted had to do with matters which the state department in the public interest said it did not care to have disclosed publicly."

FLORIDA FINDS NEW METHOD TO GUARD CROSSING

Curb and Parkway Divide
Automobile Traffic on Either Side of Tracks

By Associated Press
Tallahassee, Fla.—The Florida State Road Department has devised a simple and inexpensive device that promises to cut down railroad grade crossing accidents.

The device now in use consists of two parkways, one on either side of the railroad enclosed by a concrete curb which divides the travel, causing the motorist going in one direction to pass on the right side of the parkway, while traffic in the opposite direction goes to the left.

One section of curb begins 70 feet from the end of the railroad ties on either side of the railroad and is constructed along the center lines of the highway to the end of the ties. Another section begins at the same point and is constructed in an arc of a circle on the right of the center of the highway, and intersects the first section of curb twenty feet from the end of the ties. The greatest distance between these curbs is ten feet, and the curve is sufficient to make it necessary to slow down to get through.

A sign designating the railroad crossing and a warning to go slow is placed in the parkways at the extreme ends away from the railway as a warning during the day, and a red reflector is placed at the same location as a warning signal at night. Flowers and shrubbery may be planted in the parkways to beautify the spots.

TRETTIEN IS SECRETARY OF MT. OLIVE A. A. L.

Harry E. Trettien, clothier at 220 E. College-ave, was elected secretary of branch No. 485, Aid Association for Lutherans, at the monthly meeting at Mount Olive Lutheran church Monday evening. He succeeds Earl Bauerfeld, who resigned because of the fact that he has discontinued his clothing business and no longer has a store downtown. The change takes effect at once and July assessments are to be paid to Mr. Trettien. Louis Freude was appointed auditor to arrange for the transfer of records.

The usual social sessions are being omitted during the summer months. A short time was devoted to a report of the convention of the Wisconsin Federation of the A. A. L. at Oshkosh recently. This was given by Louis Freude, who is state secretary, and also was a delegate of branch 485. He described the program and reviewed the business transacted.

COSTLY TO MAKE LEFT TURN AT BUSY CORNER

A left turn at College-ave and Oneida-st is not the right turn in the eyes of the city ordinance, it was realized by Adolph Streike, Ballard-rd, Wednesday. This thought was brought home to him by Patrolman Joseph Bayer who placed him under arrest and confirmed by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court who imposed a fine of $1 plus $2.20 in costs Thursday.

BRIDGE IS ONE OF BEST IN COUNTRY

Architect Well Pleased With
Workmanship in Cherry-st
Crossing

L. R. Ashe, Kansas City, Mo., member of the nationally known engineering firm of Harrington, Howard & Ashe, who designed the Lawst and Cherry-st bridges of Appleton, is in Appleton conferring with W. H. Klyce, resident engineer supervising the construction of the new bridge in Kaukauna.

Mr. Ashe also is negotiating with the city of Menasha for drawing the plans for the new drawbridge to be erected near the concrete bridge. He also plans to go to Menominee, Mich., to consult with city authorities there about a bridge.

The noted engineer is much pleased with the workmanship in the Cherry-st viaduct. He said it would compare favorably with any of the same size and type in the country. The great height of the structure and the bridging of the railway bridge makes it quite a unusual one. A bridge of the same general type is now being built under the firm's supervision at Jamestown, N. Y., although this structure is more of a ravine viaduct with a small stream and railroads underneath.

Harrington, Howard & Ashe, drew the plans for the Appleton bridges following a survey by Oscar Weissgerber, at that time city engineer. The firm is building a bridge over San Francisco bay three miles from San Mateo where Mr. Weissgerber is now city manager.

UNLICENSED DRIVER BOOSTS PENSION FUND

At last Appleton police have succeeded in bagging the slippery $2 bonus for the arrest and conviction of a driver operating a car without a license.

Several times that bonus was almost in their grasp, but every time a driver was arrested for that offense he managed to scrape enough evidence to satisfy the judge that he had actually applied for a license.

The sum allowed the police under the provisions of a new statute is not for the personal benefit of the arresting officer, but will be deposited into the police pension fund, awaiting its ultimate transfer to the pockets of some retired member of the department.

If any monogram is to be engraved upon the $2 bill, it will probably be the initials of Carl Radtke, motorcycle officer who made the arrest.

The driver arrested was Frank Baumgartner, 804 W. Packard st. Besides the $2 contribution required of him by law, he paid $13.40 which includes the fine and costs imposed by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court Thursday.

WORKMAN BADLY BURNED BY GASOLINE BEAST

Edward T. Burke, 537 N. Garfield st was painfully burned about the face, hands, and chest when a vacuum tank on a car on which he was working at the Langstadt-Meyer service station exploded. The accident occurred at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

An exposed wire came into contact with the tank and a spark caused the explosion. Burke was removed to St. Elizabeth hospital.

CHEST CLINIC HERE MONDAY

Free Examination for Tuberculosis Symptoms Will Be Made at Womens Club

Another chest clinic has been arranged for Monday afternoon through efforts of Miss Florence Whipple, city nurse, and Appleton Womens-club. It will be conducted from 1:30 to 5 o'clock at Appleton Womens club-house, N. Onida and W. Harris-sts., by Dr. C. D. Boyd, superintendent of Riverview sanatorium.

These clinics are held under the auspices of Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association with the purpose of detecting tuberculosis in its early stages so it can be cured. They are open to the entire public, Miss Whipple announces, and the examinations are absolutely free. Advice will be given each applicant concerning care of his case if any ailment is found.

Several clinics now have been held and so many persons have desired chest examination that numbers could not be accommodated. About 20 were turned away at the last one with assurance that one could be held later. It is the hope of Miss Whipple and the womens club to hold chest clinics once a month as long as there is a demand for them. The first Saturday of each month will be the scheduled day but this was not possible for July on account of Independence day.

Children under 16 desiring examinations must be accompanied by a parent.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT IN SAECKER CONDITION

There was little change overnight in the condition of Herman G. Saecker, 44 N. Union-st., Appleton manufacturer, who suffered a stroke of paralysis Monday morning. He was still unconscious at noon Thursday, with the family remaining at his bedside most of the time. A slight improvement was noticed in the morning of his heart action but his condition still is critical, the attending physician announced.

The Rev. Fred Mantel, pastor of the Lutheran church at Balaton, Minn., is to preach Sunday morning at Greenville Lutheran church. The services will be held at 9:30.

CAR STOPPED AFTER GIRL FELL, PASSENGER SAYS

Whether the car driven by Arnold Brecklin came to a stop after the accident to Lolamye Zuelke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Zuelke, Wednesday morning, is becoming a matter of controversy. Mrs. William Barker, whose husband owned the car in which she was a passenger and Brecklin was driving, declares the girl ran into the side of the car which had just started to move and the driver stopped instantly, but the child's father declares the driver did not stop. A report from the police Thursday morning indicated the car stopped after the girl was knocked down and the driver did not start again until there was assurance that the child was not injured.

Meet For Funeral
Former-service men of Oney Johnson Post of the American Legion are requested to meet at Elk club Monday, July 6, to attend the funeral services of Reinhart A. Wagner who died Wednesday afternoon. The services will be held at 2 o'clock from Zion Lutheran church.

Mrs. G. C. Sherman and daughters, Chicago, former Appleton residents, are visiting friends in Appleton.

BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT

The treasury surplus has exceeded all expectations, and is even larger than President Coolidge had predicted. It definitely decides that there will be a material reduction in federal taxation at the next session of congress. This will be the third reduction in taxation in three years.

Only an executive who has to deal with hungry politicians and the pressure of self-seeking interests knows what the actual carrying out of Mr. Coolidge's program of economy has meant in the shape of character and determination. We have had few presidents who have been able to withstand the raids of politicians on the treasury to anything like the extent that Mr. Coolidge has resisted them. It is a tremendous achievement, and of tremendous importance to the people of the United States. Great and good as most of our presidents have been, they did not have the courage to shut off the pork barrel and disapprove extravagant expenditures for military purposes. Mr. Coolidge has done both. He has practically put the pork barrel out of existence. Appropriations have to withstand the absolute test of merit by men who are qualified to apply the test. Appropriations have been reduced to a business basis almost for the first time in the history of this nation.

How long congress can be held in submission and prevailed upon to give up its time-honored political subsistence off the treasury remains to be seen, but for the present at least it is under control. It has been a Herculean task to bring about this change. The public at large little realizes how immense was the job. Probably nine out of ten executives in the country, local, state and national, are weak when it comes to dealing with the demands of politics on the public purse. That is why government is so costly in the United States and why its extravagances run into excessive taxes. Calvin Coolidge is a distinguished exception to this rule. He is entitled to the full credit for bringing about large economies in federal taxation. It was the greatest service he was in a position to render the people of the United States, and it makes his administration stand out as one of the best in the history of the country.

CHICAGO CAN'T SECEDE

Chicago wants to secede from the state of Illinois. It wants to become a free city, under the fiction of making Cook county into a separate state. Other cities have had the same longings. Detroit is even now trying to devise ways and means to cut loose from the state of Michigan and go it alone. New York city has been in such sore conflict with the rest of the state at times that it has had visions of freedom.

Chicago's grievance is that it has not been treated fairly by the rest of the state in the apportionment of representatives and senators in the legislature; also, in legislation, favoring the "backlands" at the expense of the city. The trouble with its aspirations to statehood is that under the constitution of the United States, whose provisions are explicit, the new state could be created only with the consent of the legislature of Illinois and the approval of congress.

It is not likely that the rest of the state, which is in control of the legislature, would agree to losing so substantial a source of income as the taxing district of Chicago. Illinois might be willing to part with Chicago on moral grounds, for it is no creditable distinction to possess the greatest crime center in the world, and it might also agree to separate statehood for Williamson county, which contains the city of Herrin, on similar grounds, except that money is the thing which makes the political, like the social, world go round, and the politicians are always in need of it. Chicago is too fertile soil for political income to be abandoned to its own devices and follies. It will have to continue to disfigure the state of Illinois, however much it may expostulate with its misfortunes and its own conscience.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

A new plan has been evolved for the enforcement of prohibition. It is the creation of the treasury department, most particularly Secretary Mellon's assistant, Mr. Andrews. Under this plan prohibition enforcement is to be reorganized along federal district instead of state divisional lines. The number of enforcing officers is to be reduced, but it is held that this will be possible without impairing the efficiency or thoroughness of the work; in fact, it is expected that greater progress will be made in the attempt to suppress violations of the Volstead act than has been possible through state units. This does not mean that state cooperation is to be abandoned. On the contrary, it is to be strengthened and supported by the federal government in every feasible way, but this cooperation is to be extended through larger divisions in which there will be less conflict of authority and greater mobility of the enforcing machinery.

It is expected that enforcement hereafter will be concentrated in an effort "to stop the sources of supply, importation, diversion of legitimately manufactured alcohol, illegitimate manufacture and transportation of alcoholic beverages." This, we think, is the only logical policy for the government to follow. It can get nowhere by the arrest of flask-toters, home brewers and waiter-runners. These arrests only serve to clutter up the courts and shut the eyes of the people to the main transgressions. If the government can strike successfully at the sources of supply, it will soon dry up the country.

It is to be hoped the new move will prove to be what the treasury department predicts. It is what all law-abiding citizens of the United States favor and approve. Only those interests which are making millions out of the illegal traffic fight it, and they are not entitled to consideration. They are the worst form of law violators we have, for they are inviting crime of every character, from murder to robbery, all over the country. The people of the United States are entitled to bonafide enforcement of the prohibition law. The government can give it to them if it is so disposed, and it looks as though it were at last in the mood to go all the way. The only way we can determine whether prohibition is to become a permanent policy of the United States, whether the people are willing to continue it indefinitely, is to give it a genuine, honest test. This is something it has not had for the simple reason that there has been no purpose to make the country dry in fact.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

THIRSTY

We all have got the habit, 'cause the habit's lots of fun. There's nothing like a cooling drink to off-set Mister Sun.
Ya buy a dozen lemons, and ya roll 'em till they're loose. Ya cut 'em in the middle, and ya squeeze out all the juice. Just pour it in a pitcher, and you've really started fine. It adds a bit of color if ya add a bit of rime.
Seek out the jar of sugar, so's to sweeten up the mess. There isn't any set amount; ya sorta have to guess. Now stir it for a minute, till it forms a kind of paste. The odor of the lemons hints the way it's gonna taste.
It's time to add the water that is flowing by the sink. Of course ya know there's water in most every kind of drink. Now chip the needed bit of ice. The soothing draft is made. Pour out a glass and treat yourself to ice cold lemonade.

FIRST AID FOR SUNSTROKE

Naturally the first rule in the emergency care of a victim of the heat is to keep cool. The next thing is to make reasonably sure the condition is sunstroke or heat stroke and not collapse, shock or fainting from some cause other than the sun or the heat. If it is really sunstroke or heat stroke, the victim's face will be flushed, the skin hot and dry, the breathing heavy and probably stertorous (snoring), the pulse full and strong, and the body temperature will measure several degrees above normal. In sunstroke or heat stroke the victim is quite unconscious. In collapse, shock or ordinary fainting—too often attributed to "heat exhaustion"—the victim is rather half conscious though dazed, the face is pale, the skin is cold and clammy, the breathing is very shallow and quiet and the pulse is feeble and difficult to feel. If the temperature is taken with the thermometer it is usually somewhat lower than the normal, in collapse, shock or ordinary fainting. It is important to distinguish true heat stroke or sunstroke from these conditions which are too commonly attributed to "heat exhaustion," for the proper treatment of the latter conditions, namely stimulation would be exceedingly bad treatment for sunstroke. For instance, cold water bathing or application of ice is good treatment for sunstroke or heat stroke but would be harmful in collapse, shock or fainting, for in these weakened states heat should be applied.

If one has the foregoing description of heat stroke or sunstroke pictured in his mind, as contrasted with the picture of shock or fainting (syncope), there will be no difficulty about keeping cool and doing the right thing in any emergency.

Everything here suggested as good first aid treatment for true sunstroke would be harmful in the conditions I have described as commonly passing under the name of "heat exhaustion" or "being overcome by the heat."

Place the patient in a comfortably half reclining position.

Keep ice cold cloths on the head, changed every few minutes.

Endeavor to have a breeze blowing upon his body, or use a fan.

Rub the body slowly with large pieces of ice, or wring a sheet out of water and apply it to the body, or just keep sprinkling the body with the coldest water obtainable (using an ordinary sprinkling can about half of the body surface is bathed with ice or ice water or covered with the cold wet sheet, at any one moment, there is no chance of overdosing the cold applications). The object is to lower the body temperature as quickly as possible, and in sunstroke heroic measures are necessary and safe, though the same measures might be unsafe in ordinary fever.

Sunstroke has several names, including heatstroke, thermic fever, insolation and sirlasis. This last name backs back 2,000 years or so to a time when the learned men held Sirius (the dog star) responsible for the "dog days." They deemed Sirius hot dog. He is still one of the brightest stars in the heavens.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Dr. Brady, Acids.
I am 30 and overweight. I like reduce they tell me to drink a glass vinegar every day I help I want to see what you say. (Mrs. M. F.)

Answer.—You should first arrange about your plot in Woodlawn and write out instructions about the color of your casket, the services, etc.

Chlorine Gas.
Last week I wrote a letter asking if you would recommend chlorine gas for bronchitis. I enclosed self addressed envelope. (C. J. L.)

Answer.—The question is an individual medical question, which you should submit to your physician. In certain cases of chronic dry bronchitis treatment with chlorine gas has been beneficial.

Limbs Don't Seem So Now.
Please advise me as to the use of violet ray treatments for poorly circulated limbs. I have consulted a physician but he has given me no satisfaction. (M. A. R.)

Answer.—Violet ray treatment is just a fancy or imaginative way of producing all the wonderful healing effects of heat, such as one might obtain from a hot water bag.

Ebbe Ruth is out of the game with a swollen ankle. Must be his approaching age. But we suppose that when he is a granddaddy he will still be called "The Bambino."

If it is not the babe's age that is causing his ankles to swell, it is the big load his feet are required to carry around. Some more attention might be given to his swollen waist. The swelling of his head and possibly his purse has already been reduced.

It is interesting to contemplate that the Fourth of July comes on a Sunday this year, thus giving patriotic citizens another chance to make a two-day fishing trip out of it, as they did on Memorial day.

An inquirer at this office wants to know if The Flapper Wife is an Appleton girl. Certainly she is. But you can't blame the fellow for not knowing who she is, as he has been out of town for a while.

The announcement about the Night Club was made a little too soon. It should have been held up until after a few installments of The Flapper Wife which certainly should have increased the number of club applicants.

An Appleton wife nicknames her husband "Facts" because he is so stubborn. But the fashion styles do not yet entitle him to call his wife "Truth."

World's News
Told In Brief,
Simple Style

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Just what China wants America to do toward helping her put of her troubles with the "foreign devils" on her shores, and their governments at home, isn't very clear yet.

Anyway, Dr. Alfred Sze, her minister in Washington, has put up some sort of request to the United States, as practically his country's only strong friend.

Presumably the Chinese idea is to get President Coolidge to call a conference of the "powers" on her affairs and do his best to see that, out of it, China gets a fair deal. It's a ticklish situation for America to mix into, but it's equally a ticklish situation to be left alone.

DEBTS

The French Chamber of Deputies has voted Finance Minister Caillaux's proposed six billion-franc increase in currency. It looks like inflation, but Caillaux says really it's a loan.

France has numerous short-time creditors to pay off soon and nothing to pay them with. The finance minister's scheme is to do it with this new money.

But, the natural answer is, the country'll have those six billion to redeem them.

True, admits Caillaux, but before they're turned in for redemption, the government will have had to make economies which will enable it to retire the six billions, leaving it with a clean slate, so far as that amount's concerned. It simply is a plan to gain time—a risky one.

MORE DEBTS

Italy actually is discussing with America the terms of a settlement of her war debt to the United States. It's about $2,138,000,000.

If the talk gets anywhere Italy will give bonds, at an interest rate yet to be agreed on, and while paying it will gradually be whitening the principal down. It will take years.

MOROCCO

Morocco's rebellion against France and Spain shows no sign of subsiding. To illustrate how serious it is, French ministers of France assures the chamber of deputies that any indication by the French and Spanish of backing down would mean the massacre of all their subjects in North Africa.

GREECE

Greece has had what has the sound of rather a tame little revolution. That is, nobody was killed—at any rate, nobody yet.

Neither did Admiral Coundourotis, who became provisional president when the monarchy was overthrown, lose his job. Premier Michalakopoulos and his cabinet were kicked out, however, as inefficient and extravagant.

Gen. Pangalos, who engineered the affair, took over the presidency.

He was because he was so thorough that the revolution was so quiet. He had everything arranged in advance.

MEXICO

Secretary of State Kellogg interfered with vacation plans when he issued his warning to Mexico. Having stirred the subject up, he has to stick around his office in Washington, lest there be further developments at the other end of the line that will need attending to.

Indications, however, are that President Calles, now that he's had his way, too, will keep quite await Secretary Kellogg's next move, and at present there's no very effective one for him to make.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

TRAIL OF GEMS

FULL OF THRILLS

Tales of Smuggled Jewels Are Filled With Romance, Crime and Misfortune

From Smugglers And Smuggling. By A. Hyatt Verrill.

Practically all the most famous jewels of the world were smuggled from place to place. The Kohinoor, the Orlov, the Pitt, the Star of the East, the Hope and other huge diamonds were all smuggled out of the lands where they had been stolen from idols or temples and have been smuggled over and over again since then.

It is no exaggeration to state that the stories of these gems, the trails of bloodshed, deaths, misfortunes, scraws, jealousies, wars, intrigues and tragedies that have marked the histories of these smuggled jewels are the most romantic, thrilling and fascinating to all the annals of smuggling. When one reads their stories one is not at all surprised that the superstitions should have regarded these stones, or some of them as evil things, objects that brought ill luck, sickness or even death to their owners, for through endless years many of them, as for example the famous Hope diamond, have proved curses to their possessors, and one owner after another has met violent death, terrible misfortunes and endless troubles.

But their pasts are shrouded in mystery and legend; years, when they vanished completely from human ken, form gaps in the history of the wanderings; they are surrounded with superstition and myths, and fully as much of their stories has to do with brigandage, piracy and robbery as smuggling.

NATURE HEART

Nation Is Not One of Art, as American and English People Often Suppose

Yoshio Markino, in The Literary Review The New York Evening Post.

How often my American and English friends have paid me this compliment: "Your country is very artistic. It is a nation of artists." To their astonishment I have always shaken my head. The truth is that we are not all artists. Many of us do not understand art at all. I should rather say we are all poets, for we are the lovers of nature. Sir Thomas More in his Utopia, as if he were talking about Japan, said, "For they define virtue to be a life ordered according to nature; and we be hereto ordained of God." This explains our nation exactly.

Indeed no other nation loves nature as much as the Japanese. And their pleasure is to compose poetry about it. When I was in my home village, it was the custom of those poor ignorant peasants to have poetry-competitions on their fete days. My father, used to say, "Poor peasants! They are not educated enough to use the right words, but their ideas are splendid." He corrected their grammatical and rhetorical errors. Very often they made beautiful poetry.

On the other hand, look at the Japanese paintings or color prints. Most of them are nothing else but colored poems without words. And the Japanese understand them through their own poetic feeling. Surely those westerners who love our art must appreciate it consciously or unconsciously from the same point of view as ours. Otherwise they could not love it.

The Question Box

When in doubt—ask Haskin. He offers himself as a target for the questions of our readers. He agrees to furnish facts for all who ask. This is a large contract—one that has never been filled before. It would be possible only in Washington, and only to one who has spent a lifetime in locating sources of information. Haskin does not know all the things that people ask him, but he knows people who do know. Try him. State your question briefly, write plainly, and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Q. What caused the trouble in Honduras? R. H.

A. The recent troubles in Honduras were originally the outcome of the bitter presidential contest of 1923 led by General Carias, Dr. Bonilla and Dr. Arlas, none of whom obtained a majority of votes. The election was therefore thrown into congress which on account of factional dissension did not reach a decision until January 31, 1924, at midnight when the term of President Lopez Gutierrez expired.

He, later declared himself dictator, dissolved congress, and declared martial law. The United States threatened and up rising resulted in various parts of the country. Gutierrez died soon after and was succeeded by a cabinet controlled by Dr. Arlas.

The other two candidates waged on the government forces. President Coolidge sent Sumner Welles as peace maker to the peace conference that was called. No specific conclusion was reached and fighting continued.

Q. What kind of wire is used in an electric coffee percolator? L. F. E.

A. It is usually an alloy of nickel, chromium or copper.

Q. Who was the first woman to come to America? D. T.

A. No woman arrived with the first settlers in Virginia in 1607. The following year, however, two women, Mistress Forrest and her maid Anne Burdett, came to America. These are probably among the earliest to reach the country.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE PIEMAN'S PIES
Nancy and Nick and Mister Whizz had no idea that the magic snuff had been spilled and that dreadful things were happening in Daddy Gander Town.

But one thing they did know about. It was all Simple Simon and the Pieman's pies.

In the first place, the Muffin Man never could bear the Pieman. He called him a peddler and cheap skate and everything that he could think of.

"How can he sell pies for a penny?" said the Muffin Man. "When I can scarcely make a decent living by selling them for ten cents apiece. I'll bet you his apple pies are made of dried apples with the skins on and the cores in, and his raisin pies are made of about two raisins and the rest flour and water—to thicken them up. And I'd hate to think of what his custard pies are made of. I'll bet you anything they never saw the inside of an egg shell."

That was the way the Muffin Man talked when he heard the Pieman coming down the street calling, "Pies a penny—Pies a penny."

He got so excited that he couldn't count a straight dozen. He had been known to count out thirteen doughnuts time and again when he heard the Pieman's cry.

"I want them all," said Simon, "only I haven't a penny. I haven't any money at all."

"Then, why did you stop me?" cried the Pieman. "Out of my way, boy."

At that very minute Snitcher Snatch, the goblin, rolled out of the Muffin Man's door and spilled some of the magic snuff out of the gold snuff box.

And one grain of it got up the Pieman's nose. The very next minute he had breathed it in.

"Achoo!" he went so loudly it must have been heard in St. Louis or maybe China or it is just possible even in San Francisco.

Instantly all of his pies flew in every direction. Simple Simon got two and ran home as fast as his legs could carry him.

But most of them flew into the Muffin Man's shop and settled on the counter.

"Aha!" cried the Muffin Man. "Now I can find what the Pieman's pies are made of—wouldn't be surprised if they were filled with sawdust."

But instead he found that they were much better than the pies he made himself.

"I'll tell you how it is," said Mister Whizz. "The Pieman has no rent—no paper bags to buy—and no delivery boy to pay. Besides his pies are smaller than yours."

"That's a fact," said the Muffin Man thoughtfully. "I guess he is an honest man after all. Perhaps I'll take him into partnership with me. What do you say, Mister Pieman?"

DIARY OF NURSE JOHNSON ON THE OBSTETRICAL CASE OF MRS. JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT, CONCLUDED

It is a strange thing that no one told little Jackie about his little brother. Even Mr. Prescott seemed to have some hesitancy about this.

One morning, however, when the father was talking with the boy he said:

"Jackie, just as soon as your mother is well enough, you shall be taken to her, and then she will have a great surprise for you."

The child expectantly looked into his father's face, but since then he has not voiced his incessant desire, "I want my mummy."

Even this morning when he was brought into his mother's room he was quiet, although his little hands never unlocked themselves from hers. A most peculiar thing happened at this meeting. He seemed to have forgotten all about his little brother and Mrs. Prescott did not mention him.

"Is you gettin' well, mummy?" the boy asked as he covered the nervous hand lying on the coverlet with kisses and tears. "I get so blue without you. Won't you get well right away?"

"I'll get well, son, if you just keep on loving me," said Mrs. Prescott in a weak voice.

The child lifted great solemn eyes to hers and whispered: "I love you better than anybody. I love you better than God."

Then they held him up to kiss her lips, and took him away promising that he could come again to see her tomorrow.

I think that visit did more for Mrs. Prescott than any of the doctors' care or medicine. For the first time the tired, unseeing look went out of her eyes and I thought I saw there a desire and will to live which I had not seen before.

For the first time she asked to have the other baby brought to her. Up to then she had always accepted the child when it had been laid in her arms, but had evinced no particular interest in it. Today she cuddled it and her kisses fell softly on the top of its little bald head.

"Tomorrow you and I and Jackie will make the plans for our future lives. Tomorrow, my dear, Jackie will know what a great responsibility rests upon him," and then she sighed and said, "Perhaps life won't be so hard after all. Perhaps it is selfish of me to feel this way."

"Don't you think so, nurse," she said, looking up at me with a bright smile—the first she had given me in all her illness.

"You seem to have everything to make your life happy," I answered. "Perhaps—who knows—perhaps that's true. At least I'll try to make it true."

Again she kissed the baby, and I laid it in its little crib.

ANOTHER STREET ADDED TO 1925 PAVING PROGRAM

Council Votes to Pave Block on E. Franklin-st to Connect With N. Lawe-st

S. Appleton-st, the belated addition to the 1925 paving program, will be surfaced with reinforced concrete as the result of action taken by the common council Wednesday evening.

The contract was awarded to Hoffman Construction company upon its bid of $4,244.94, which was the lowest submitted on this type of pavement.

Another strip of pavement which will be added this year is the block on E. Franklin-st between N. Lawe-st and N. Union-st, for which all residents on that portion of the street petitioned waiving all rights as to assessment of benefits and damages and establishment of grade.

The types considered were vibrolithic at the low bid of $4,549.50 of Koepke Brothers; reinforced concrete by Hoffman Construction company, and brick at $5,285.75, also a Hoffman proposal.

R. M. Connelly, city engineer, advised a vibrolithic pavement, as he believed concrete would be too smooth for this steep hill in the winter time. He proposed making ridges in the vibrolithic pavement to roughen it.

When Alderman Catlin asked whether it was the intention of the city to lay curbs and gutters first and informed that such was the case, he declared it his belief that it would be difficult to lay vibrolithic after the curbs and gutters were in.

Alderman Smith objected to the same type because he thought the small stones worked into the cement would wear off on the hill with heavy team traffic. He declared that farmers would prefer a stone pavement such as that on S. Oneida-st hill.

The reinforced concrete type was finally adopted after a motion by Alderman Fose, chairman of the committee on streets and bridges.

APPROVE SEWER

Final approval was given by the council to six sewer projects. The council declared the assessments of benefits and damages made by the board of public works to be in effect following the absence of objection from property owners at the council meeting. Plans were finally accepted, contracts on bids previously submitted were awarded and the work ordered done.

The sewer on Circle-st from N. Meade-st to N. Union-st, will be dug by R. J. Wilson company, while McHugh Brothers will do the work on the following streets: W. Franklin-st, from N. Outagamie-st to N. Douglas-st; Jefferson-st, from E. McKinley-st 120 feet north; E. Wisconsin-ave, from N. Meade-st to N. Lawe-st; W. Washington-st, from N. Story-st to N. Bennett-st; W. Fourth-st, S. Story-st to S. Mueller-st.

About two dozen licenses were granted for the operation of soft drink parlors, bus licenses were issued to the Inter City Bus company and a number of bowling alley and pool and billiard table licenses also were authorized by the adoption of a report of the police and license committee.

Adopting the street and bridge committee's report, the council authorized repairs on the W. Lawrence-st bridge, the S. Meade-st drawbridge and the installation of a telephone at the S. Oneida-st drawbridge.

The council deferred action on recommendation of the public grounds and building committee that all expired insurance on city buildings be renewed at the same amounts with the exception of that on the city hall which the committee advised increasing from $25,000 to $40,000. The insurance on water department buildings is to be fixed by the water commission. Present insurance carried on all city buildings totals $102,500. The matter will be acted upon at the next meeting. The insurance expires on July 25 and 26.

Chief George T. Print of the Appleton police department was given permission to attend the annual national convention of police chiefs, which will take place in Indianapolis July 13 to 16. The mayor and street committee were authorized to attend a uniform traffic conference to be held in Madison. The council gave its indorsement of the proposal of an interstate bridge to be erected over the Mississippi river at Prairie du Chien. Moral support of the council was asked by that city which declares that it is 50 miles from a bridge either south or north. A ferry is now being maintained at this point. The council will notify state and federal legislators of its action.

PESKY BED-BUGS

Bedbugs lay an average of seven eggs per day. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days of which two thirds are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in four weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female or egg unmolested for one year?

To rid the pesky bedbugs, you readily see how necessary it is to use a preparation that will kill eggs as well as the live ones.

P. D. Q. has been demonstrated by the leading Hospitals, Hotels and Railroad Companies that the safest and most economical way to stop future generations of bedbugs, roaches, moths and ants is to use the new discovery Pesky Devils Quicker "P. D. Q."

A 35c package of P. D. Q. makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and moths and at the same time destroy their eggs.

Impossible for them to exist when P. D. Q. is properly used. Free a patent spout in every package to get the pesky devils in the hard-to-get places and save the juice.

P. D. Q. is not an insect powder, no muss or dust, does not rot or burn the bedding.

P. D. Q. for family use 35c. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottles, double strength, liquid form. Genuine P. D. Q. is never peddled. adv.

can now enjoy a vacation every day with a

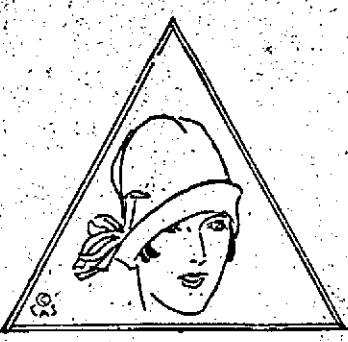

UNIVERSAL GAS RANGE

When the summer is hottest, you need something to lessen the work in the kitchen and make your housework more pleasant. The Automatic Oven Heat Control on the Universal Gas Range eliminates the necessity of staying in or near the kitchen to frequently adjust the gas or inspect the food. Oven temperatures are automatically maintained indefinitely and a scientific cooking chart shows the temperature you need and the length of time required for each class of food. You simply set the Oven Heat Control at the desired temperature and forget it until the proper time for the removal of the food. Makes the housewife's time her own.

Women who own Universal Ranges do not spend their afternoons in their kitchens, as all that is required to keep this new and finer Gas Range clean, is to occasionally wipe it off with a moist cloth. They can leave their homes for a period of three to five hours and return home to find the meal cooked perfectly, ready for serving.

We offer many styles and sizes to select from at a price within the reach of every pocketbook. Come in and let us show you how your kitchen work can be made a pleasure. A small down payment delivers any Universal Range. Take a whole year to pay, if you wish.

LICENSE-LESS DRIVERS ESCAPE FINES IN COURT

Twice more the police pension fund came short of getting its bonus of $2 for the arrest and conviction of drivers operating a car without a state license.

The case of Otto Spletter, E. Johnston, who was taken into court Monday for this offense was adjourned when the defendant offered to procure a statement from a justice of the peace to the effect that he had given money to a garage dealer with instructions to obtain a license for him. The case is, however, still being held open.

Another arrest was made Tuesday when Edward Gull of Oshkosh was found to be driving a Ford car with a 1924 license which upon investigation the police found to have been issued originally for an Elkart car. In municipal court Wednesday Gull declared that the transfer of the license had been made before he came into possession of the car. He had a postal money order receipt for money sent in application for a license to operate a car after July 1. The case against Gull was dismissed.

NO MAIL DELIVERIES ON INDEPENDENCE DAY

The "unselfish" candy

"Come on!" said Freddie, "I've got enough for all of us and four pieces for each one."

That's the nice thing about Life Savers, the "unselfish" candy. There are 14 of those delicious little mint circles in each package—and only five cents a package.

Every growing child craves sweets. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat.

Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (life saver shape), answer this problem in just the right way. They are china-hard and deliciously flavored.

This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors last longer. Little tummies are not upset. And Life Savers are kind to tiny teeth.

They're safe and wholesome. You may conscientiously be generous with Life Savers for they are the ideal candy for little folks.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinnamon, Lic-o-ri, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

BILLBOARD LAW IS CONSIDERED BY CITY DADS

Huge Board on Highway 15 Is Said to Be Menace to Auto-ist's Safety

Kaukauna—Action to regulate billboards in Kaukauna is likely to be taken up soon by the common council. The passage of an ordinance may be necessary because of the huge billboard on Lawe-st just beyond the switch tracks where highway 15 turns on the Green Bay road. It is said the board is an obstruction to the view of motorists coming in either direction. Several complaints have been received north side aldermen of narrow escapes from collisions.

A letter was sent some time ago to the owner of the billboard company asking him to voluntarily move the board back from the road. The letter stated there is no state or city statute which can compel him to make a change but it was hinted action would be taken to create the necessary legislation.

Mr. Miller, the company owner, was in this city last week and held a discussion with city officials. No announcement has been made as to his intentions.

The adoption of an ordinance will not only concern the one board in question but will determine the status of boards all through the city. It was said a city ordinance was passed many years ago which required the boards to be placed at least 12 feet from the sidewalk. At that time the ordinance was only a measure to protect the pedestrian in case of wind storms or other disturbance which might cause the board to fall toward the sidewalk.

SEWER MACHINE IS GIVEN TRIAL

City Officials Are Divided in Their Opinion of Back-filler's Effectiveness

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The sewer back-filling machine which was purchased by the city from Contractor Mierwa of Oshkosh, has arrived and is in operation. Street Superintendent Geske says that it is not as effective as the machine he was in favor of buying. Superintendent Thomas has used it a little in filling small ditches in his work and says it "works fine." Several city officials are in favor of adding a long boom to the machine to make it more effective for distance work. Some would add other fixtures. Alderman Clark and Meinhardt who voted against purchase of the machine, said it would cost $1,000 in all before they got it fixed up, and that it wouldn't work then. The machine is small with an 8-horse power engine, and moves along the trenches under its own power.

NEW BUCK JONES FILM HEADS THIS WAY WITH HIGH RECOMMENDATION

In what will go down in motion picture annals as his very best picture, according to the claims of William Fox and his associate, Buck Jones the popular western star, will be seen at the New Bijou theatre Friday and Saturday. This new release is called "The Man Who Played Square" and it is described as "a classic in thrilling romantic melodrama," and it is said to provide the good-looking Buck with more opportunities for ingratiating acting, exciting fighting and daredevil riding than any of his previous pictures. It is a story of the most stirring days in the gold-mining country of Northern California and it has to do with a he-man's battle against the great odds of veritable packs of brutality of every description and propensity.

With all the magic of undersea photography, all the beauty of color photography and an absorbing plot besides, "The Uninvited Guest," the Metro picture, coming to the Elite Theatre today and tomorrow takes its place as one of the most unusual photoplays of the day.

Not only has the famous Technicolor process been used to photograph the luxuriant wonder of tropical seas and South Sea Islands, but the Williamson Submarine Tube System has made possible the startling scenes of undersea life, of which the realistic battle between a man and an octopus is a thrilling example.

Under the skillful direction of Ralph Ince, an excellent cast moves convincingly through this Submarine Film production, which is a dramatic story of love and intrigue, written by Curtis Benton. Mary MacLaren and Jean Tolley play the leading female roles, and Maurice Flynn, William Bailey and Louis Wolheim share honors in their respective heroic and villainous characterizations.

Terms of Five Members of District Board Expire—Budgets Will Be Cut

Election of the four Appleton school districts will hold their annual meetings Monday evening to fix the 1925 budgets and elect board members to succeed five whose terms expire. The first district meeting is in the First ward building, the Third district in the Fifth ward or Washington school, and the Fourth in the school of that district.

Two men's terms expire because they were appointed to fill vacancies occurring during the year. These are Dr. C. E. Reinick, Second district, who took the place of A. A. Wetten, resigned, and L. Hugo Keller, Third district clerk, who succeeded Joseph Mayer, resigned. All of the others whose terms are up are clerks of districts. They are: First district, William H. Kreiss; Second, A. S. Galpin; Fourth, John E. Hantschel.

U. S. Public Doesn't Get Whole Truth About China

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington — British attempts to create a world impression that China is in revolt against foreigners in general, rather than against two particular nationalities, are fretting some of the Far Eastern experts in the State Department considerably. Their information is that Chinese hostility is directed almost solely against the British and Japanese; that leaders of the movement have gone out of their way to express friendship for Americans and that they have been surprisingly successful in creating a similar feeling among the ignorant mass of their countrymen, who can't tell white men apart unless they're told. It naturally isn't to Britain or Japan's interest to have it appear that they especially are the objects of Chinese hatred. It not only raises a question as to the reason for such an attitude toward them, and them alone, but might prevent them from securing other nationalities—America's main support, if they should decide to adopt strong repressive measures on a large scale. Japan, her contacts with the western world relatively limited, can't "doctor" Oriental news very effectively, but England, largely in control of its sources, is succeeding extremely well at it. That, there's trouble the British freely admit—even emphasize—but no more for them than for anybody else, according to the dispatches they get, through dispatches which in the absence of much other information are quite generally passed along and reprinted here, which is just what the British want. The worried officials themselves pretty accurately posted, don't like seeing the public misled. Mistaken publics sometimes make it hard for governments to stick to the policies they think best. Just now it serves Britain's purpose to present to the Occident a picture of a Bolshevik-crazy China, in arms against all civilization. Sometimes it's to her interest to present an ugly picture of the Occident—all but herself—to the Chinese. For instance, when some rough-neck citizen of any other country than her own kicks a native coolie off a gangplank and he's drowned—quite a common occurrence—the British-controlled press all up and down the China coast emphasizes his nationality and his brutality for all it's worth. But if an Englishman does the same thing, he's a "foreigner"—that's all. All over the world local native-British newspapers and reviews, and British influence carry on this work. In South America it never ceases. There's no out-and-out clumsy misrepresentation, that you can put your finger on, and say, "This isn't so." Just a dab of color, here and there—and the thing has the required British and anti-everything else look. American trade doesn't seem to realize this. If it did, perhaps it would try some of it for itself. Hints are current that Secretary of State Kellogg is beginning to suspect he fired more or less at hair

COCK IN THE MATTER OF THAT WARNING TO PRESIDENT CALLES

The rest of Latin America certainly reacted very unfavorably—not to mention Mexico—and maybe the secretary has been hearing from there through North American diplomatic channels.

It's reported that American interests in Mexico have found fault too.

The truth seems to be—judging from little State Department leaks—that Ambassador Sheffield, who isn't a Spanish scholar and hadn't been south of the Rio Grande long enough to have seen much for himself, took as the foundation for the story he told Kellogg certain American grievances which do not exist and slapped a far weightier superstructure on it than the underpinning justified.

Kellogg took his word for it and there you are. Sheffield is going back to Mexico but it wouldn't surprise anybody in Washington if he didn't stay long.

HIGHWAY 55 IS SCENIC DRIVE

Trip Through Reservation Reveals Historic Spots Marked With Signs

For those who like to head their automobiles through localities where they can see things of interest instead of speeding along to a fixed destination highway 55 rerouted over the old military road through Menominee Indian reservation holds considerable charm. Most drivers have shunned that route because of the reports concerning the bad condition of the highway. It is said by those who have driven over it in the last week, however, that the road is in fairly good shape. It is a bit story and rough in places, but the road bed is hard and leisurely travel will cause no discomfort.

Spots of historic interest all through the reservation have been marked with signs. Some of these are right in the center of the highway and the roadway has been routed around both sides. At one point are several towering pines left in the highway route and having historic significance. Huge boulders also are marked, as are the sites of famous old lumber camps haunts, Indian scenes and others. Scenery in this locality also is beautiful. The road borders the Wolf river for a distance and also has miles and miles of wooded surroundings. A ride of 60 to 70 miles north over this route and return is said by many to be the delightful way to spend a day.

CONTEST REVEALS FLAWS IN "BEST CITY ON EARTH"

PERFECT TOWN STILL IS MYTH, WILLIAMS SAYS

Even Appleton May Find a Few Things That Can Stand Correction

Residents of Appleton and 15 other Wisconsin cities who for years have proclaimed theirs as "the best town of its size I know anything of," are learning through the better cities contest that this may not be true and that there is considerable to be done for improvement.

This interesting situation is developing as the contest draws to its close, said Aubrey Williams of Madison, while in this city Tuesday conferring with those who are drafting the final report. Mr. Williams is executive secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, the organization which is offering the prizes. He was accompanied here by Chester Allen of Oshkosh, district representative of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin.

CLOSES JULY 9
Mr. Williams announced that the contest definitely closes on July 9 and all reports must be in the mail by that date in order to be counted by the judges. The decision as to the winning city will be made on Nov. 12, the day following Armistice day, when the annual state meeting of the social conference is held at Stevens Point.

Seven of the judges have been appointed and the others will be named shortly, the state secretary said. An effort has been made to choose men who are keen analysts of the activities of the ten departments on which the contest surveys are based. These judges not only will go over each report and score it according to a fixed schedule that has been adopted but will make a personal visit to each city to gain a first hand knowledge of conditions.

Judges thus far chosen are Public Administration, Dr. Luther Gulick, executive director of the Public Administration Research Bureau, New York; town and country relations, Charles J. Galpin, United States department of agriculture; city planning, Mr. G. D. Downes, city of Toledo, Ohio; recreation, J. R. Batchelor, director of the department of recreation of the American Playground association; social welfare, Dr. C. C. Carstens, executive secretary of the Child Welfare League of America; education, Dr. Delfenbaugh, United States bureau of education; health, Dr. Canfield of the Nebraska state department of health.

HELPS WISCONSIN
"Wisconsin bids fair to make another real contribution to the development of a sound economic, social and educational, individual community life through this contest," declared Mr. Williams. "For better than 12 months citizens in 15 towns and cities have been studying their community. They have been studying its health, how many babies died last year, what they die from; how many people are living in houses where there are no toilets or bath tubs; what is done with the raw sewage of the city. These and like penetrating facts are being dug out from every home, church, school, public administration office and factory."

"And these citizens who have to give most of their day to winning bread and shelter are learning more than they ever hoped to know about their town. They are learning that the town they have for years proclaimed as the 'best town of its size I know of' has 300 families most of whom have children, who live in rooms over stores on their business section streets. They are learning that there are families, even to one-fourth of the whole number of families in their city, whose yearly income is 200 to 300 dollars less than what it cost to live," by figures they themselves have gathered for 'prices of goods you sell to working people.' They are learning that '90 children out of every 100 never go to a motion picture' and that 'over 50 families out of every 100 play home games with father or mother.' They are learning that the playground, the enthusiastically believed would 'keep the boys and girls out of mischief' are located so far out on the rim of the city as to be little more than a cow pasture and that the 'park in the city, because of no direction, is a lounging place for transient hoboes and local vagrants'—learning that to build a church, to buy a playground, to have a fine school building and a 'summer play' is fine but may fail to render in part or totally the service for which it was bought at so great a price."

Those leading locally in the contest are anxious to have the facts brought out as to the things the city lacks as well as the good points, the secretary finds. Many of the participating cities already are at work to correct the defects.

ALREADY CORRECTING DEFECTS
In four cities, Ashland, Superior, Waukesha and Janesville, Mr. Williams said, "they are at work to establish case work methods for the charity of the city. In Sheboygan they had a city plan. They have hired a city planner. In Fond du Lac they were in need of milk inspection work and they are fighting to get it. In Kenosha there were no countrywide playgrounds. They may not have one. In Eau Claire they have established a central clearing house for relief. In Oshkosh they have a whole roster of things to curtail and to enlarge. Sparta is working out an extension of its sewerage system. The contest has meant civic action on an organized, planned and related basis."

"Five cities have requested that the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work make a detailed study of the data which they have turned in and give them a full report of how they compare to all other cities in the contest, along with the methods employed by the cities doing the best work."

LITTLE JOE

TRUE, THE WIFE MAY HAVE THE LAST WORD — BUT HOW LONG DOES IT LAST —

Prizes will be given in addition to the major awards of $1,000 and $500 in the two groups of cities divided according to population. There will be a bronze plaque for second highest honors in each of the two groups and a silver cup for third honors. Honorable mentions also will be given. The winning city under 10,000 will receive $300 as first prize and the leading city in the 10,000 to 60,000 class will be given $1,000.

THEY PLANNED A BURIAL BUT HAD NO CORPSE

Never in the History of Appleton has a funeral been called off because of the lack of a corpse, but that is what happened over on N. Morrison-st in the vicinity of E. North-st the other day. And some mischievous Tabby is held to blame.

Children of the neighborhood found a song bird that had chirped its last and rather tahn see the feathered corpse lay exposed to the elements decided to hold a funeral and give it proper burial. A grave was dug and a box placed in it to hold the casket. Darkness came before all the preparations were completed, however, so the solemn rites were postponed to the next day. One of the mourners took the bird corpse to his home for the night.

Morning came and the children gathered for the burial. Arrival of the body was awaited for some time but the custodian of it failed to appear. Finally impatience surmounted grief and a delegation went to find out why tardiness was permitted at so tense a moment.

The chief mourner had stayed at home because there was no corpse to bring. Some neighborhood cat had found the bird in the night and had devoured it. The children pouted for most of the day because they couldn't have their grand funeral.

Resort keepers have in years past tried to stimulate their June trade but most tourists seem to hesitate about hitting the road for the pinery until after July 1. Although June weather was somewhat cool, compared with that of July and August, the tourists missed the best fishing season of the year, resort keepers have tried to impress upon them. This year's rain and cool weather have been no help for the resort keepers in gaining their point. Quite a number of travelers have found the region about Lake Winnebago far enough north for the present time of the year and have been enjoying fishing and recreation hereabouts. A noticeable fact this year is the increasing number of Minnesota cars touring this part of the county. Last year the bulk of cars came from Illinois, with Michigan second in the list.

PROBE LEGALITY OF BOND SALE BY U. S. TRACTOR CO.

Railroad Commission Presides
at Examination of Menasha Official

Menasha—A hearing that promises to consume the remainder of the week got under way at the city hall Wednesday afternoon before H. W. Harriman, legal advisor of the Wisconsin railroad commission and George C. Matthews, director of the securities division of the commission. The testimony is being taken by Miss Mary Kohler, stenographer of the commission.

The complaint filed with the commission concerns certain bondholders of the former United States Tractor company who asked the commission to conduct a hearing to give them an opportunity to examine the officers of the company. It is signed by A. J. Beyer, attorney for the committee of bondholders, and A. J. Englehold of counsel, both of Milwaukee.

PROBE BOND SALE

Among the reasons set forth in the application for the hearing is that the officers and agents of the company caused the sale of first mortgage bonds of the company in disregard of the statutes and orders of the railroad commission.

That it is the belief of the applicants that the sale of the bond was irregular and unlawful and was based upon error and not upon facts and fear that unless a hearing is held the rights of the bondholders will be lost.

The applicants asked that the following officers and agents of the former company be subpoenaed and that they be instructed to produce their books, papers and records in their possession and control relating to the sale or disposition of the bonds.

Secretary, James C. Sallor, treasurer, Dr. A. B. Jensen, director, Chris Walter, secretary and manager, A. F. Reinecki, manager, G. D. Harris, director, Gavin Young, director, L. S. Bohn, assistant secretary, G. E. Lewis, president, J. M. Robinson and broker, C. B. Cass. Among the Appleton people subpoenaed are C. S. Dickinson, H. W. Tuttrup, Mark Catlin and E. E. Sager.

Among the appearances were: A. J. Beyer and A. J. Englehold of Milwaukee for the committee of bondholders; E. J. Dempsey of Oshkosh for Gavin Young, Chris Walter and Dr. A. B. Jensen; and J. P. Frank of Appleton for the First Trust company of Appleton and H. W. Tuttrup, C. A. Seifert of Milwaukee, special investigator of the Milwaukee office of the railroad commission, joined the commissioners shortly after the hearing got started.

Mr. Tuttrup was the first witness called and was questioned as to the First Trust company's connection with the bond issue. He was connected with that institution at the time the bonds were issued.

When asked if he was the only person connected with the trust company who took an active part in the negotiations leading up to the trustee he said it was done in conference with C. S. Dickinson, E. E. Sager was his assistant secretary but took no active part in the negotiations. According to his best recollections the negotiations began in the spring of 1922, March or April of that year.

Mr. Tuttrup was questioned in detail as to the negotiations with the tractor company and said the trust company gave it a schedule of charges for such service. Asked if the trust company kept in touch with the railroad commission he said he tried to but he did not recall any written record of the permit from the commission after an elapse of three years.

The witness was asked as to whether in redeeming interest coupons the trust company paid any attention as to whether the bonds were legally issued or illegally issued, but the question was objected to by Mr. Frank. Mr. Tuttrup could not recall the terms of the permit at that time.

Attorney Frank objected to the question as to whether the witness did not know now that the bond issue was not to exceed $50,000 but was permitted to answer and said it was set for $250,000. In response to the question, "Do you know now that the permit limited the amount of bonds issued under that trustee to be sold to be $50,000?" The witness said he had heard that but could not recall from whom.

As to whether he had an intimation from any source that the interest paid on the bonds above the first $50,000 was unlawfully paid, the witness said he had none. As to the financial condition of the company at the time the trust company accepted the trust issue Mr. Tuttrup said it may have been discussed with the secretary and Attorney Catlin, but he had no clear recollection.

With reference to the trust company guarding against prior liens Mr. Tuttrup said matters of that kind were left to attorneys and that the trust company relied upon their reports. As soon as he learned there was a lien he addressed a letter to bondholders advising them to that effect. He was questioned at length as to the holders of bonds and the payment of coupons.

Other witnesses questioned briefly before an adjournment until 9 o'clock Thursday morning was taken were A. F. Reinecki, James G. Sallor and Mrs. W. J. Patri.

VACATIONS FOR POLICEMEN ARE 5 DAYS LONGER

Council Orders Committee to Discuss Fire Protection
With Town of Menasha

Neenah—Police, sanitation, sewers and non-intoxicating liquor licenses were the outstanding matters discussed at the regular monthly meeting Wednesday evening of Neenah city council.

Police were granted 15 days vacation instead of 10, and the police commission was asked to provide an extra man to take the places of the regular police while they are on their vacations. Out of respect for Harry Holmerson, who has been a member of the police force for the last 15 years, the oldest man on the force, Alderman Herziger of the Fifth ward moved that the council recommend to the police and fire commission that Mr. Holmerson be given the position as desk sergeant recently vacated by Harold Nooyan, resigned. This brought out discussion among some of the aldermen who were against detaching to the commission which had full power to promote Mr. Holmerson if it saw fit. Mr. Herziger answered with "There is nothing wrong with our making this recommendation and always remember that the council is the higher power and has the right to make recommendations. A vote was taken and the question of presenting this recommendation was carried. Those opposed were Alderman Jamison, Arneemann, Jones and Marty.

Complaint was made against an outside toilet and unsightly buildings on the property of Richard Wachow, at corner of Winneconne-ave and S. Commercial-st.

Louis Swane who had made the original complaint addressed the council and demanded that the nuisance be abated immediately. The matter was left with the police and health commission.

In response to a resolution sent to town boards and city clerks by Mayor Sande asking that arrangements be made with the city of Neenah within 90 days to pay for fire protection where the property is outside of the city limits, Supervisor William Grimes, a resident of town of Menasha, addressed the council, pointing out that he and his neighbors thought it was an injustice in view of the fact that all of Neenah's rubbish is dumped in the town of Menasha and in many instances much negligence is shown in the manner in which it is dumped, creating a bad odor at all times. "The times the Neenah fire department is called to the town of Menasha Mr. Grimes said, "is small compared to what the people of that vicinity have to stand through Neenah's dumping grounds." The matter was left with Mayor Sande and officers of the board to adjust.

Several miles of sewers recommended by the board of public works were accepted, a resolution was adopted to accept plans, advertise for bids for sewers on Edna-ave, between Railroad and Center-sts. on Hewitt-st, between Fifth and Ninth-sts. on Sixth-st. between Green and Hewitt-sts. Van-st. between Monroe and Sherry, on Fourth-ave between Austin and Henry; on Lincoln between the Fox river and Grant-Grant-st between Lincoln and Forest-ave and from Grant-st to Eleventh-st, extending on a line 350 feet south of Forest-ave and from said line, on Eleventh-st extended to Forest-ave.

Applications for licenses to sell non-intoxicating drinks were submitted by Barnett & Co., Charles Schultz & Son, Henry Steffens, Neenah News Agency, Peter Matsete, Burts Candy Co., Gus & John & Sons, Charles Engfer, Weinke Bros., A. W. Harper, C. Glaser, H. F. Skefte, Ivan Stulp, Howard Larson, William Barkhahn and C. F. Schultz and pool room licenses by C. Glaser and H. E. Skefte. All were granted.

The Neenah fire department is short of hose, a fact which had been known for some time but was not brought out until Wednesday evening when Alderman Marty moved that the clerk advertise for 1,000 feet of new hose to add to the 2,300 feet which the city now has. The motion carried.

Because of lack of enough seats in Riverside park during band concerts it was moved to have 300 more erected by the committee on parks and public buildings. With the seating arose the question of more and better lighting in this park which will be taken up by the same committee. Bills amounting to $25,166.15 including a school bond of $90 and a waterworks bond of $350, were ordered paid. The bill of Dr. McGrath of $48 for care of a city charge was ordered disallowed for the fact that it was not authorized by the city.

The city clerk, chief of police and chairman of street, highway and bridge committee were authorized to attend a meeting in Madison on July 14 at which the uniform traffic rules will be taken up. Poor commissioner E. Merrill was also authorized to attend the state convention of poor commissioners to be held in Superior. Plans for a new brick tool house to be erected on Main-st., were presented for inspection, the new building will be 43 by 43 feet if present plans are accepted.

An ordinance changing the license fee for selling non-intoxicating drinks from $10 to $5 was adopted; the petition from Kimberly-Clark to build a cement road on S. Water-st, the city to pay one-half, was not granted unless the petitioner will pay two-thirds of the costs.

Neenah—John Hopfensperger of Sherwood, was taken to Theda Clark hospital Wednesday night suffering with scalp wounds and possibly internal injuries the result of being struck by a train east of Waverly beach. Mr. Hopfensperger was riding to his home in his car and did not see the approaching train as he started to cross the tracks. The car was badly damaged.

BANKING IS BRISK AS DIVIDENDS ARE PAID

Banking business in Appleton was more brisk Wednesday than it has been for some time due to the large amount of dividends and interest paid out to holders of securities of various kinds. The patronage at the windows was such that tellers sometimes had long lines of people waiting to be served. Savings accounts were swelled and bond purchases soared to heights which pleased the financial houses.

Semi-annual dividends were paid to stockholders of the banks and finance companies, and to holders of shares in Appleton Building and Loan association. Interest also was due July 1 on large numbers of bonds. The result was that thousands of dollars either were drawn out by patrons or reinvested in new securities.

This condition always obtains on Jan. 1 and July 1 and long hours are required on the part of bank employees to pay out the earnings and execute the other extra work necessary the first of each month.

RAINBOW QUARTET

LETTERS ASK
AID FOR SCOUTS

Appleton Needs $1,100 to Make Up Its Quota of Valley Council's Budget

Letters have been sent out by Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, to a large number of firms and individuals in an endeavor to raise the balance of the Appleton quota of $2,500. The campaign recently conducted by personal solicitation brought approximately $1,400 into the council treasury.

Workers found many persons absent from the city when they made their calls and the council therefore lacks many gifts which it was believed would be forthcoming from those who usually have backed the boy scout work here. The letter plan therefore was adopted to complete the campaign with the hope that $1,100 still needed would be forthcoming from Appleton citizens.

Expenses have been held to a minimum but it has been necessary to purchase equipment for the new campsite east of Lake Winnebago and to provide other much needed facilities to keep the work going. The letters point out the worthiness of the boy scout movement and the reasons for giving it support.

All who can help the Appleton committee fulfill its share of the valley budget are asked to send their checks or cash gifts to the boy scout headquarters in the chamber of commerce rooms in Insurance-bldg.

Lemons Tighten
Wrinkled Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have the very mildest, anti-wrinkle lotion to tighten relaxed skin.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the skin at night. By morning most of the tell-tale wrinkles, tired lines and crows-feet are smoothed out, giving a more youthful contour to cheeks, chin, throat. It leaves the skin velvety soft, clear and fresh.

Beauty experts use this astringent lotion for enlarged pores, also to bleach and whiten sallow, tanned skin.

Mix this harmless lotion yourself since it acts best immediately after prepared.

What is a Balloon Tire?
THE announcements of two years or so ago defined a balloon tire as—"A tire of large cross-sectional diameter having a thin, flexible side wall so it can be run at low enough air pressure to provide a soft air cushion between the car and the road."
That was the industry's ideal.
That was what the car owner was told he would get.
That is what the car owner does get in the U. S. Royal True Low-Pressure Balloon.
But he doesn't get it in all tires that carry the word "Balloon" on the side wall.
Some tires labeled Balloon wear out too fast when run soft, so they must be run at too high pressure to give ideal cushioning and comfort.
The makers of U. S. Royal Balloons have stuck to the original idea and ideal.
The U. S. Royal Balloon is built of Latex-treated Web Cord.
This provides the necessary strength and flexibility for low air pressure.
It also has the U. S. Low-Pressure Tread which distributes the weight evenly over the entire tread surface and eliminates early, uneven and unsightly tread wear.
It can therefore be run at low enough pressure for ideal cushioning without injury.
Many nice big round tires with the name "balloon" on the side wall can't.

The FLAPPER WIFE

As she walked up W. College-ave. she met Lola Hough.

She was wheeling a baby buggy with one hand and carrying a market basket with the other. Behind her trotted the twins, Billy and Betty.

Lola's tired face was wreathed with smiles under her last year's hat.

"How nice to see you!" she kissed Gloria warmly. "Are you all settled in your lovely new house?"

"I walked past it the other day, and I thought how lovely that big back yard will be for your babies—when they come."

Gloria raised her eyebrows. "I hope you're not going to be one of these foolish women who can't be bothered with having children." Lola said. She had caught the look on Gloria's face at the word "babies."

"Because they're not a bother!" Lola went on. "A woman thinks she loves her husband. But she doesn't even guess what love is until she has a baby."

Lola raised the hood of the buggy. Inside, in a little nest of pillows, lay Teddy Hough, who was not quite a year old. His long lashes lay in a dark shadow on his cheeks. Little gold wisps of hair curled under his bonnet.

"Isn't he a love?" Lola asked. "Nice baby," said all Gloria could find to say. She said good-by then and walked on.

The little house of her girlhood looked shabbier than ever before when she came down the street. The paint was scaling in places, and the snowy lace curtains had been darned in a dozen places. A card tacked up beside the doorbell read: "Bell out of order. Please knock."

Gloria knocked. Her mother opened the door. The minute she saw her daughter she began to cry.

"Whatever is the worst of it, the matter, mother?" Gloria asked. She pushed the door shut, and patted her mother's gingham shoulder with one hand in its white kid glove.

"Oh, I don't know," her mother sobbed. "I guess I'm so happy at seeing you married off so well to such a good man that I just have to have a good cry."

She wiped her eyes with one corner of her white apron.

"You've always been a worry to your dad and me, Gloria," she went on. "All your life. You were too pretty always. And you began to have beaux when you were too young for them. . . . Then last year we were deadly afraid that you were going to run away with that good-for-nothing actor. . . . What was his name?"

"Stanley Wayburn," Gloria answered promptly. "But you needn't have worried about him. He didn't want to marry anyone who didn't have a million dollars."

Stanley Wayburn was still a bitter memory in her heart.

He was the one man who had never lost his head over her. He had told her frankly that he would never marry for anything but money. But he was perfectly willing to make love to her Gloria, in the meantime. Only he wouldn't fall in love with her. . . . had finally stopped phoning her or taking her out to supper.

And then, at the end of the season, he had left town without a word.

She remembered how she had cried all night. . . . What a fool she had been to care for him!

Mrs. Gordon was enchanted with Gloria's new fur coat.

"Dick's a fine husband," she said. "So don't kill the goose that laid the golden egg. Don't run him into debt! . . . By the way, that good-for-nothing Wayburn is back in town. I see by the papers that he's heading a new stock company."

"Is that so?" Gloria asked innocently. But her heart leaped. Stanley Wayburn here, playing! And this was matinee day!

Gloria glanced at her wrist watch. Two o'clock. If she hurried, she could get to the theater in 15 minutes.

"Well, I must be going. I just stopped in on my way downtown to see Dick," she fibbed, and kissed her mother good-by. On the way to the theater she bought a bunch of violets and pinned them to her coat. The house was sold out except for two chairs in an upper box. Gloria bought one of them. Just as she entered the box the curtain went up.

The play was a western one. When Wayburn walked out onto the stage with his spurs clanking, Gloria leaned forward. She wanted to call out to him. "Hello there Stan! It's Gloria!"

For she felt sure he would never recognize shabby Gloria Gordon in the bejewelled, beffured creature she had become.

Just then Wayburn looked up. He looked straight at her. And he smiled.

A few minutes after the curtain had gone down on the first act an usher came into the box. He gave Gloria a folded sheet of paper.

"You are Miss Gordon, aren't you?" he asked. Gloria nodded.

"Gloria dear. It's good to see you again. Can't you run down to my dressing room for a minute or two? The boy will show you the way."

The note read. It was signed "Stan." Gloria took her gold pencil from her bag.

"I can't come. I'm not Gloria Gordon any more. I'm married," she wrote on the back of the note. Wayburn had sent up to her.

Then she hesitated. Should she send it? Or should she run down to see him?

After all, would it be so very wrong to see Stanley Wayburn in his dressing room for five minutes?

"Well, and what if it was wrong? Dick would probably never hear of it anyhow."

And Gloria longed to see Wayburn. . . . if only to dazzle him with her new splendor. To show him that even if he hadn't wanted to marry her, another man had.

A man who could afford to give her fur coats and diamonds and Parma violets in the middle of winter.

She rose to her feet. "Take me to Mr. Wayburn," she said to the waiting usher.

The actor was waiting for her inside his room that had a tin star tacked on the door.

"Before" she breathed. Stan's she knew what was happening she was in his arms. The smell of his Turkish cigarettes that he always smoked struck her nostrils as he kissed her again and again.

At last Gloria pushed him away. Her cheeks were scarlet.

"You shouldn't have done that!" she cried. "I'm married."

"So that's it?" Wayburn said. His eyes swept her from her $50 hat to her shoes with their silver buckles.

"When I saw you up in the box I wondered what you were using for money the year. . . . Who is the bloated millionaire you've married?"

"Richard Gregory, the lawyer," Gloria answered. "Ever hear of him?"

Wayburn nodded. "I didn't know he was so darned rich," he said.

"Oh, he's not rich. Just comfortably well off," Gloria told him. "We've a darling little house out on E. Pacific and an automobile and a maid. I have everything I want, really."

"I'll just jot that address down. I'll be out some day soon to see you to have a quiet talk over old times," Stan told her.

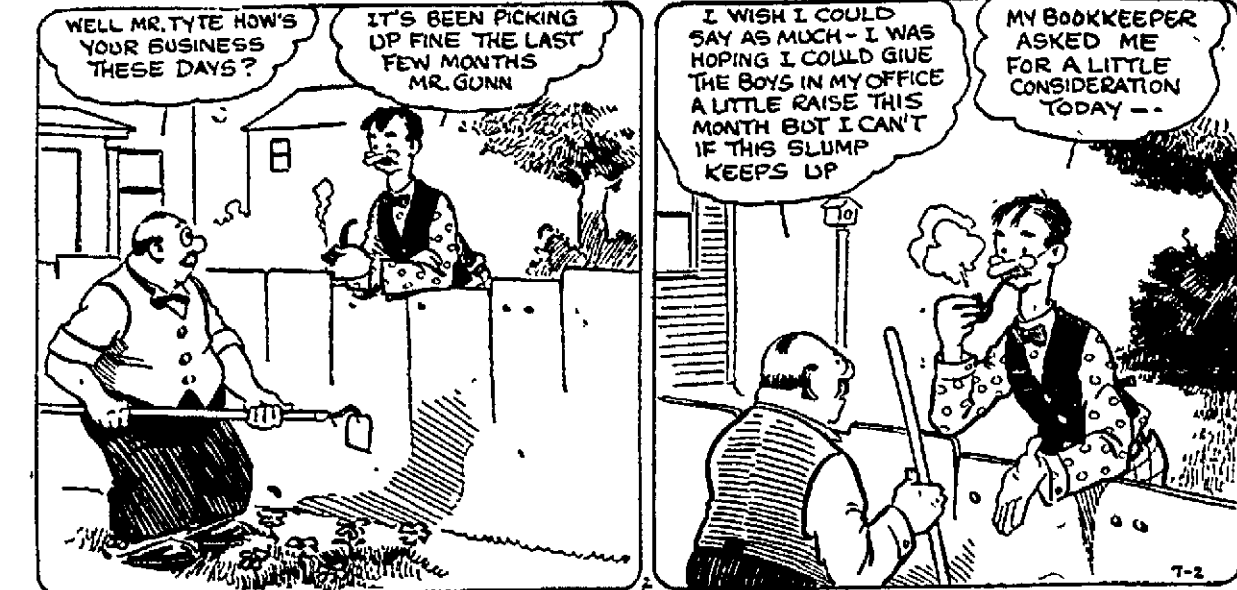

He wrote Gloria's address in a small leather book on his dressing table.

"If you should come, make it Thursday," Gloria said. Thursday was Maggie's afternoon out. She did not want Maggie to be there when Stanley Wayburn came to call. She would take no chances on having Dick or Dick's mother find out that she was having a handsome man calling on her.

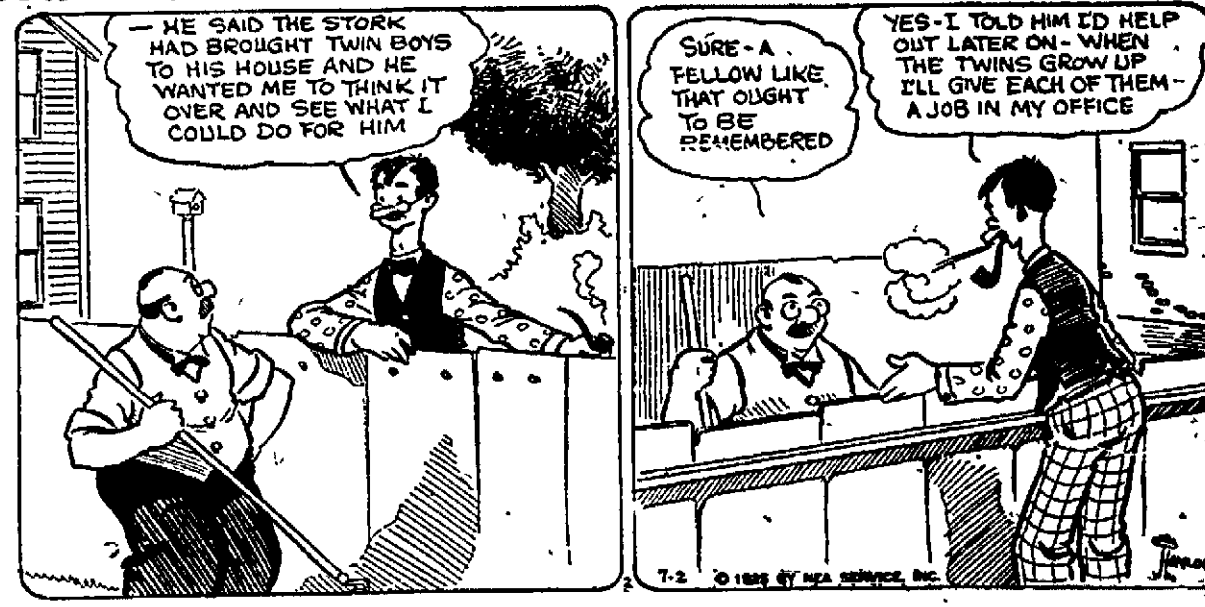

Not that there was anything wrong in seeing Wayburn. She would make him behave himself when he came. But people would be sure to misunderstand if they found out.

Footfitters Play Good Game Up To Sixth When Basing Goes To Pieces

Staging a strong comeback after their defeat at the hands of the Bankers, the league leading Post-Crescents Wednesday afternoon swamped the Footfitters, 22 to 6, in a twilight league contest at Jones park. The Shoemen were going good up to the fifth when basing went up in the air and the Printers slammed him all over the lot for six runs. A flock of errors put Basing in bad holes time after time and several times he filled the bases by handing several men walks.

The Post-Crescents played one of the best games of the season with but two errors chalked up against them and were hitting in top form. Their fielding spotted a lot of possible hits for the Shoemen. In the eighth stanza they ran wild and before they could be stopped had added 13 runs to their score.

The Shoemen started off by coping two tallies in the first, but the Printers came back for three in the second and held their rivals scoreless in the second and third. In the fourth the Footfitters forged ahead once more when they sent three runs across the rubber, making it 5 to 3 in their favor. Thereafter they made but one more run, while the Printers got 6 in the fifth and 13 in the ninth.

The lineup: Post-Crescents — Baetz, 2b; Zussman, c; Jacobson, lf; Cartier, rs; Stenard, ss; Hartzell, 1b; Wagner, p; MacIntyre, cf; Rawlsky, 3b; Koepke, 2b.

MEUSEL POLES THREE HOMERS

Brother Emil Leads Majors in Premature Celebration of Fourth

New York — Babe Ruth: just up from illness, and tramping around on an injured ankle, began an early celebration of the fourth Wednesday when he drove two rocketing home runs into the sky at Boston for his fourth and fifth home runs of the season and his first hits of the week. At the same time the New York Giants, playing the Phillies within a couple of base knocks of independence ball, also indulged in a premature holiday, led by Rack Wilson, short and stocky center fielder, who set off two homers in one inning during which his team captured nine runs. Wilson's feat tied the modern record made by Ren Williams of the St. Louis Browns in 1922, the only previous exhibition of its kind in the present century.

Ruth and Wilson were joined in the day's festivities by the Meusel brothers. Emil helped the Giants along with three four-base shots in the two games at Philadelphia while brother Bob, performing alongside of Ruth in Boston, accomplished one. Pep Young of the Giants added another to make a great all-around day for the outfielder of Morgan. Over in Brooklyn Bernie Neils must have heard the cannonading for he too contributed a brace of homers to the day's sport while Todt of the Red Sox made a feeble effort to equal the Ruthian demonstration and recorded one. Rumbles came from the west, Hartnett, Wright and

TRICITY TENNIS MATCH ON MENU HERE FOR JULY 11

Oshkosh Association and Wausau Y. M. C. A. Agree to Play Here.

Arrangements for a tri-city tennis meet here with the Oshkosh Tennis association and the Wausau Y. M. C. A. for July 11 were nearing completion Thursday. Both outside organizations have agreed to meet the Appleton Y. M. C. A. team here on that date, but A. P. Jensen, physical director of the "Y" team here is doubtful whether the winner of the first match will be willing to play the second team for the championship on the same day.

There will be 4 singles and two doubles events in each match. The have not yet been chosen definitely but will be picked within a week.

Little is known of Wausau's strength. Oshkosh is strong in the singles, having won most of its events of that kind this year, but lack of practice and experience in the doubles has left them weak there.

George LaBorde, Fox River valley champion and a member of the Lawrence college squad, is on the Oshkosh team and probably will be one of the chief standbys of the invaders.

ORGANIZE NEW SWIM CLASS AT "Y" POOL

A new swimming class was organized at the Y. M. C. A. pool here Saturday morning.

The "Y" dormitory turned out at 6:30 in the morning for an early dip. About 15 swimmers were in the group, and after their period was over they decided to use the pool at the same hour each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Heathcote scoring long blows as the Pittsburgh and Chicago nationals clashed and McNulty tallied one against the Tigers at Cleveland.

Ken Williams hung up his sixteenth homer of the season while the Browns were opposing the White Sox. Collins and Hooper of Chicago also drove out circuit smashes.

HORNSBY OUT AGAIN TO LEAD SWATSMITHS

Rogers Hornsby seems bent on adding another batting crown to his list that now stands at five straight. He's got away nicely this season and as usual is leading the National league clubbers by a goodly margin.

Baseball And Tennis Will Be Popular At "W" School

Madison — Baseball is expected to be a popular diversion among the men students attending the summer session at the University of Wisconsin this year, as the result of a change in the system under which tournaments are operated. Guy S. Lowman, baseball coach, announced Wednesday. Heretofore classes have been given in baseball, coaching, and teams were organized within the classes and also by localities in Madison. A complete tournament was held, games being played every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. Under the new arrangements, no instruction is offered, but teams will be organized representing several states. It is felt by officials in charge that this will create a greater interest in the sport among members of the student body.

IN COAST MEET

GEORGE GUTHRIE

Meet Mr. George Guthrie, star all-round athlete at Ohio State university. He shines in the high and low hurdle races, the running board jump and the high jump. He's been a great mainstay for the Buckeyes for the past couple seasons. He is to compete in the National A. A. U. games on the Pacific coast this week.

HAWTHORNE GATES ARE OPEN FOR TURF SEASON

Chicago — Old Hawthorne, rich in American turf traditions, opened its gates Thursday for a 58-day summer racing season under the auspices of the Chicago Businessmens Racing association.

The day's headline was the inaugural handicap, a $2,500 event with a secondary feature in the Dearborn purse, in which Skip Along Kentucky Cardinal and other three-year-old Chicago derby candidates were entered.

The ban on gambling, imposed when racing was revived at Hawthorne last year after a lapse of a quarter century, will not be lifted.

Expect More Than Fifty To Enter Team Match at Riverview Club, July 1

Mixed Foursomes Will Follow Match Between Appleton and Neenah Factions

More than 50 members of the Riverview Country club are expected to play in the team match Saturday morning in which Appleton members will play the Neenah-Menasha faction with luncheon as the stake. J. D. Steele is captain of the Appleton team and C. B. Clark leads the opposing forces. In order to make the pairings even the home army has been forced to lend the invaders several of its "aces and trumps" among them Jim Rose, the club professional. The match will go over 18 holes.

This event is expected to bring out almost the full membership of the club. Arrangements are being made to accommodate 75, but several of the players will be unable to attend.

At 1:30 Saturday afternoon the mixed foursomes will begin. Entries for this event are to be made with R. A. Peterson and the play will go over nine holes. After the mixed foursomes the teams and fates will fight for the baseball supremacy of the club. R. E. Thibault will lead the teams and F. E. Holbrook the fates with Dr. L. H. Moore as "bumpire."

J. in their heat Thursday when he won the classic Diamond sculls, the feature singles sculling event of the Henley regatta. The event was the first of four for the Diamond sculls trophy scheduled Thursday.

The Frenchman H. P. Dutton, defeated R. S. Muttibury of Cambridge university. His time was 8 minutes, 58 seconds.

SEVEN HOMERS PUT GIANTS IN LEAD OF LEAGUE

Twenty Circuit Clouts in One Day Start Discussions of Live Ball

New York — Twenty big league homers all in the same afternoon are giving the fans considerable food for argument Thursday as to the lively ball.

Seven of the big blows were made by the Giants as they won a doubleheader from the Phillies and returned to first place ahead of the Pirates.

High Meusel socked for the circuit in the first game which the McGraw clan won, 6 to 4, and then slammed two more in the concluding number which the Giants won, 16 to 7.

After dropping the first section of a twin engagement to the Indians, 11 to 0, the Bengals came back for the aftermath, 4 to 1.

The Browns started to crowd Detroit for fourth place by toppling the White Sox, 8 to 6. Ken Williams inaugurated his return to the Browns lineup by smashing out his sixteenth homer of the season.

The Pirates came from behind in the seventh and scored six runs, battling Alexander out of the box as they won from the Cubs, 5 to 6.

CHAIRS RELEASE LATHROP, MARKS

Liebl Trying to Sign Up Dave Davenport and Elmer Knetzer

Madison — Bill Lathrop, former Simmons pitcher in the Midwest league has been released by the Sheboygan management, according to word coming from that city Wednesday. Manager Liebl is said to be looking for a man to take Lathrop and Fred Marks' place as Marks is expected to be released soon.

According to rumors coming here from the northern city Liebl is trying to sign up Dave Davenport, a Knetzer, a Pennsylvania Coal league ace. Davenport has been in the Coal league this season but would like to get back in this section.

Lathrop was a first rate pitcher when he was with Simmons in 1923 and with Nash in 1924 but he didn't get along very well with the Chair City fans. They were continually yelling to Liebl to take him out as soon as opposing teams got to him for a hit or two and it is this which led to his release.

The Sheboygan club may have its two new pitchers when it when it comes here for a league game on July 4. Liebl may also spring a new infielder when he gets here, it is said.

EXPECT 50,000 FIGHT FANS AT FRACAS TONIGHT

Welterweight Champ Will Meet Middleweight King in Feature Bout

New York — Some 50,000 followers of boxing are expected at the Polo Grounds Thursday night when eight well known fighters take part for good sized purses, in a benefit for the Italian hospital.

A double feature is being offered. The welterweight champion, Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., fights the middleweight king, Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, Harry Wills, N. Y. giant, who has long clamored for a meeting with the heavy-weight champion, meets the rejuvenated veteran of Newark, N. J., Charley Weinert.

In the Walker-Greb tussle, a title will be at stake, but only on one side. Walker cannot lose his because his opponent will enter the ring far over the welterweight limit. But Walker may win the crown that the Pittsburgh man took from the head of Johnny Wilcor. Greb is the favorite for he has speed, power and courage considered sufficient to offset the brilliant attack that is sure to come from the sturdy battler from Jersey City. No championship will be at stake when Wills and Weinert face each other, but the ambitions of either may be shattered. Far in the offing, very far it would seem, looms a bout with the champion, Dempsey. Wills has sought the opportunity for years. Weinert would cherish the chance.

The State Athletic commission had been called upon to decide the question of postponement from June 19 found necessary when Walker suffered an injury in training; the question as to which is the feature bout, a matter still in the balance, and the status of Jack Kearns, who it is reported, even will agree to a Wills-Dempsey match in order that he may gain admission to the grounds to second Walker Thursday night. Kearns has been notified that he will be barred from the grounds because he ignored a challenge by Wills.

Jim Slattery, lightning fast middleweight from Buffalo, will face Dave Shade, California welterweight, for six rounds.

Little Joe Lynch will fight four rounds against Jack Sharkey, in the first contest of the night.

MUSICAL CHAMP

PANCHO VILLA

Here we have Pancho Villa, fly-weight champion, whanging away on his ukulele, which he will play for anybody most anytime at the slightest provocation. He strums a mean instrument, too, they say. Villa is down to defend his title at Oakland, Calif., July 4, in a bout with Jimmy McLarnin.

FOUR RACES PRECEDE POWER BOAT CLASSIC

Muskegon, Mich. — Three races from Chicago and one from Milwaukee will precede the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association regatta to be held at White Lake Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Commodore Albert Park's Esplanade of the White Lake Power Boat association will race the Rainbow of Commodore Sheldon Clark, Chicago Yacht club, the boats starting from Chicago for Muskegon Thursday morning.

A cruiser race to Muskegon from Chicago and a sloop race via Grand Haven will start at the same time as the Esplanade-Rainbow race. From Milwaukee four cruisers will vie for prizes in a dash across Lake Michigan to White Lake, the race starting Thursday morning.

More than 25 boats mostly hydroplanes, were on White Lake Wednesday. In speed trials Tuesday the "Doc's II" of Dr. VanZant of Peoria, Ill., made the best time. The craft is a leading contender for the King of Belgium's international cup for time trials at one mile.

Glen Eagles, Scotland — Joe Kirkwood, American professional golfer, Thursday defeated the Englishman, C. P. Corlett, 3 up and 2 to play in the first round of match play in the thousand guineas tournament.
